Eastern Michigan A Unit for Sleeper.

(North Branch Gazette.)

"Sleeper for Governor" is the slogan of the whole "Thumb" district, and according to advices from every section of the state the enthusiasm of the home folks is proving decidedly infectious. If what everybody says may be accepted as a safe criterion, the republicans of Eastern Michigan will vote as a unit for Mr. Sleeper in the forthcoming primaries. It is rare indeed where one can find such a wide-spread and intense sentiment for a candidate for political office as is manifested for him throughout this part of the state. A man can be measured pretty safely by the estimation in which he is held in the locality where he is known best and where his whole life is an open book, and there is no mistaking the admiration and explicit confidence which exists in the mind of Mr. Sleeper's constituency throughout the "Thumb" counties. He is estimated by his deeds and good living rather than by his much saying, and if nominated and elected, the chief executive's chair will be graced by a man with the capacity to fill it with honor and credit to himself and his state.

Senator Townsend's Brilliant Record

through his efforts that it became a law and what is known as the Coast Guard Service as the result.

He introduced and passed through the senate in the 63d congress a bill to redeem the pledge of Lincoln and the congress made in 1861, to the volunteer officers of the civil war, but the measure failed of passage through the house. He re-introduced the bill in the 64th congress and secured a favorable report from the Committee on Military Affairs, and it is now on the senate calendar.

It was his bill which sought to create a commission for the compulsory investigation of disputes between capital and labor involving federal rights. This bill, however, did not become a law.

He introduced and secured the passage of a resolution requesting the President to enter into relations with Canada and Great Britain for the international creation of a waterway for the largest ocean-going ships between the Great Lakes and the Atlantic via the Welland Canal and the St. Lawrence. The matter was submitted by the President to Canada, but owing to the great war negotiations are now at a standstill, except that the Joint High International Commission is investigating it.

His speeches and opposition materially helped to save many Michigan industries from proposed disastrous legislation in the so-called Democratic "War Tax Bill."

He prevented the passage of resolutions proposed by Senators Martine and Ashurst, proposing an unwarranted interference with the work of Michigan's governor and the state militia in the great regrettable strikes and insurrections at Calumet, Mich.

It was his resolution which disclosed the partiality of the Post Office department in awarding automobile contracts for use in that department.

It was his investigation and work which caused a reorganization in the supply purchasing department of the government, thereby reducing fraud and saving thousands of dollars to the government.

No senator not on the Pension Committee has secured more pensions to deserving soldiers and their widows than he has.

Since the war in Europe he has daily looked after the rights of persons and properties of citizens of Michigan here abroad. He has secured relief in hundreds of cases.

It was his amendment to the Agricultural bill that provided $10,000 for the investigation of the growth of sugar beet seed in the United States. Herebefore all such seed has been imported from Europe, but owing to the war none can now be imported. Hereafter America will grow its own seed, and it will be better than the imported product.

He opposed the free seed provision in the Agricultural bill.

He opposed the Rivers and Harbors bill because he felt it contained many unworthy projects.

During his first two years in the senate he was a member of the Claims Committee and was active in defeating many southern civil war claims amounting to many millions of dollars.

He successfully opposed the attacks of the Postmaster General upon the rural free delivery service.

Almost single handed and alone he filibustered against a practically solid Democratic majority in its efforts to deprive a Republican director of the census from the right to publish under his name the 13th census, which he had compiled and to whom the credit belonged, but which credit the south wanted given to a new southern director.

He held worthy Republican office holders in their offices until their appointed official terms had expired.

He answered every respectful letter received by him since he has been in congress.

He has rendered every possible proper service to every citizen of Michigan who has called upon him and has never inquired as to the politics of that citizen.

He has appeared before the Interstate Commerce Commission on many occasions in behalf of Michigan shippers and Chambers of Commerce.

He has presented to the proper committees of the senate thousands of petitions from citizens of Michigan.

He was one of a sub-committee of three which framed and secured the passage of the Good Roads law, and as one of the senate conferees he was influential in securing its adoption by the House of Representatives.

He supported with speech and vote: The Children's Bureau.

The Workman's Compensation act.

The constitutional amendment for popular election of United States senators.

The act creating a Department of Labor.

The act to protect migratory birds.

Vocational Educational bill.

He supported the constitutional amendment for an income tax.

He supported the Campaign Fund Publicity bill.

He has always supported every reasonable immigration bill.

He supported the bill creating the Bureau of Mines and Mining.

He supported the bill enlarging the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

He opposed the so-called War Tax bill, the Underwood Tariff, the Trades Commission bill.

He opposed the original Federal Reserve act, but has supported many amendments to it.

He voted for the Farm Credits bill as the best thing that could be obtained, although he believed that amendments to it which were offered and rejected by the Democrats would have made it more useful to the farmers. As it is now, it will be of little use to Michigan farmers.

He opposed the repeal of the Panama Canal Tolls law.

He opposed the Underwood Tariff.

He has opposed the persistent yet too successful efforts of southern senators to appropriate millions of dollars for southern states.

He opposed the Democratic proposition for the United States to abandon its power in the Philippines while retaining responsibility.

He opposed the Ship Purchase bill.

He has never dodged a vote on any question since he has been in the senate.

He has spoken on practically every great measure that has come before the senate; and when he speaks he has the respectful attention of his colleagues.

WHY WOMEN

WRITE LETTERS

To Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co.

Women who are well often ask "Are the letters which the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. are continually publishing, genuine?" "Are they truthful?" "Why do women write such letters?"

In answer we say that never have we published a fictitious letter or name. Never, knowingly, have we published an untruthful letter, or one without the full and written consent of the woman who wrote it.

The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and suffering.

It has relieved women from some of the worst forms of female ills, from displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, nervousness, weakness, stomach troubles and from the blues.

It is impossible for any woman who is well and who has never suffered to realize how these poor, suffering women feel when restored to health; their keen desire to help other women who are suffering as they did.
